STUDY CLASSES ARE ORGANIZED

Forward Step Taken by Teachers at Walhalla and Westminster.

Clemson College, Nov. 1.—A long forward step, which will doubtless mean much educationally in Oconee county, has been taken in the organization among the teachers of Oconee county of two study classes—one at Walhalla and one at Seneca and Westminster, according to Prof. W. G. Crandall, chief of the Teacher Training Division of Clemson College, who met the teachers in Walhalla on Saturday, Oct. 28th, for the purpose of organization. These study centers are being organized upon the request of the County Superintendent of Education to give Oconee teachers opportunity to prepare for teachers' examinations, to earn credits in the extension of certificates, to earn college credits in professional certificates, and to improve themselves professionally.

The initial meeting was well attended, and much interest was manifested. Seventy-five teachers were enrolled. The Walhalla group will meet at Walhalla on the first and third Saturdays of each month, and the Seneca-Westminster group will meet at Seneca on the second Saturday and at Westminster on the fourth Saturday.

The plan of organization of these study centers calls for the work to be conducted by the Division of Teacher Training of Clemson College, in co-operation with the County Superintendent of Education and the County Teachers' Association. The teaching force for the two study centers consists of the following: Prof. W. G. Crandall, T. K. Sisk, A. G. Holmes, W. H. Washington and G. L. Wilson, of the Clemson faculty; Supt. J. P. Coates, Seneca; Supt. M. K. Fort, Walhalla; Supt. J. T. Love, Westminster; Supt. of Education L. C. Spears, of Walhalla, and Miss Sallie Stribling, of Walhalla. Others will be added as needed.

Mixed Jury Convicts of Murder.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Mabel Chapman, charged with first degree murder for the death of Thomas A. O'Connell, carnival promoter, of New Haven, Conn., in a restaurant here last July, was found guilty of manslaughter by the jury, which was composed of seven women and five men in Common Pleas Court here tonight. Judge Bernon immediately imposed the minimum sentence of twenty years, to be served in the Marysville reformatory.

Attorneys for the defense entered a motion for a new trial, which the presiding judge denied.

The composition with which the defendant has watched the progress of the trial forsook her when the verdict was read, and she broke down and cried. The jury had the case for twenty-eight hours.

Thomas Nelson Paige Dead.

HISTORY'S MYSTERIES

WHO WAS JOHN PAUL JONES?

A VISIT to the United States Naval academy, at Annapolis, Md., will almost certainly include at least a moment's pause before the magnificent crypt where lies what are supposed to be the remains of the first and one of the greatest of America's naval heroes—John Paul Jones. But an examination of the facts in the case will show that there is as much doubt as to whether this is really the body of the American commander as there is about the true identity of this personage, whose career from birth to death is one of the unsolved riddles of the Revolutionary war.

In the first place, "Jones" was not the real name of this hero, but one adopted by him in later years. He was born with the name "John Paul" and there is much doubt as to whether he was the true or the adopted son of the Scotch gardener in whose cottage he spent the first 12 years of his life.

Crawford, author of "The Sailor Whom England Feared" and one of the leading authorities on the life of John Paul Jones, admits that "mystery surrounded his origin with an impenetrable veil" and that he encountered great difficulties in his efforts to sift the false from the true, the legend from the facts. The generally accepted story is that John Paul was born in the little village of Arbigland and that his father was a poor man, half gardener and half fisherman, while his mother was of pure Highland stock. But Crawford expresses more than a doubt that the Pauls were really the boy's parents, but has been unable to delve further into the mystery.

John Paul's brother was adopted by a Virginia planter by the name of Jones and, when this planter died he left his estate to his adopted son upon condition that he take the same name. The brother, in turn, died shortly afterward, leaving the property to John Paul upon the same condition. Thus John Paul became John Paul Jones, the name by which he is known and revered.

When, after his memorable naval exploits, John Paul Jones finally died in France his death was practically unnoticed in America and the only record of the place of his burial was that left by a friend, for use, as he said, "if America should ever wish to perform her duty to the one to whom she owed the most."

Whether this memorandum of the grave was correct is a matter which caused much discussion about a century afterward when Gen. Horace Porter, American ambassador to France, discovered after a long search what was alleged to be the body of John Paul Jones, exceptionally well preserved in a leaden casket filled with alcohol. The measurements of the body compared exactly with those in the possession of the Navy department at Washington, but the total absence of other distinguishing marks raised a doubt as to the real identity of the body—though United States officials agreed to treat it as if it were the real remains of the naval hero.

A squadron was sent to France to escort the body home and France paid great official honor to the man who, a century before, had fought with distinction under many flags. When the casket finally reached the United States it was received with much pomp and ceremony and conducted to the cradle of the American navy at Annapolis—where it remained in obscurity under a flight of steps for many months awaiting the completion of its final resting place.

But there is doubt in the minds of many as to whether this is actually the body of the famous commander of the "Bon Homme Richard," just as there will always be a mystery surrounding the actual identity of the man who commenced life as John Paul, the son of a Scotch gardener.

Heavy Death List for 1921.

Washington, Nov. 2.—There were 10,168 deaths from automobile accidents during 1921, according to figures compiled in the death registration area of the United States comprising 82 per cent of the country's entire population by the census bureau. This was an increase of 1,065 over 1920. California had the highest rate killed, with 21.1 per 100,000. Kentucky and South Carolina tied for next to the lowest, with 4.3 per cent, while Mississippi was lowest, with 2.6 per cent. Atlanta showed a rate of 18.3 per 100,000, a decrease of 4.3 over the previous year.

Mother-To-Be, Read This—

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers. When you are about to give birth, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend," Mrs. C. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first child I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse. We had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

Neighbors Were Astonished at the Change In Her.

"I had lost nearly all faith in medicines, but I am thankful a thousand times over that I ever believed in Tanlac strong enough to try it," recently said Mrs. Martha Baker, 508 East Sixth St., Gastonia, N. C.

"My daughter thinks I might not be here now if I had not used Tanlac, and no doubt she is right, for I was falling pretty fast. The lightest kind of food hurt me, and many times I could not retain anything I would eat. I was also fearfully nervous, couldn't sleep, and got up mornings completely worn out."

"After I got Tanlac I improved so rapidly that my neighbors were astonished and wanted to know what I was doing for myself. I am just like a new person now, and I know at least a dozen people who have taken Tanlac and got well on account of what it did for me."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—adv.

DANGEROUS MEXICAN REBELS Career Is Brought to a Close—Gen. Margula Captured by Troops.

Mexico City, Nov. 1.—Gen. Francisco Margula is being held at Durango City and his fate will probably be settled to-day, following his arrest last night at Tepic, Durango. The rebel leader was hiding in a small room behind the high altar of a church when taken.

Gen. Margula was the arch-enemy of President Obregon for many years and one of the men who took part in the fight that brought death to former President Carranza, and it is felt that his capture has brought his dangerous career to an end.

With the little band of followers who are the remnant of his most recent rebel army, Gen. Margula was surrounded yesterday afternoon near Durango City and captured. It was announced yesterday at the President's office. Whether he will be taken to Durango City for trial or will be brought to the capital and publicly reprimanded has not been determined.

Recently he was described by President Obregon as "not a soldier, but a fugitive from justice."

For a long time the general has been credited with brewing a revolution. Two months ago he left his hiding place across the Rio Grande and came back into Mexico at the head of a rebel army said to number eight hundred men. Three weeks ago his forces were decisively defeated in a clash with troops under Gen. Escobar at Guacharo, in the State of Durango. Since then he has carefully avoided meeting federal troops. From time to time there were reports that he was trying to unite his rebels with those of Juan Carrasco in the State of Sinaloa and the men under Carlos Greene in Tabasco, but nothing ever came of these movements.

NEXT DOSE CALOMEL MAY SALIVATE YOU.

It is Mercury, Quicksilver—Shocks Liver and Attacks Your Bones.

Calomel salivation is horrible. It swells the tongue, loosens the teeth and starts rheumatism. There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic—a perfect substitute for calomel. It is a pleasant vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and cannot salivate.

Calomel is a dangerous drug; besides it may make you feel weak, sick and nauseated to-morrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tonic instead and you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tonic acts better than treacherous calomel your money is waiting for you.—adv.

His Complaint.

"As the song has it, we are only poor weak mortals, after all."

"Admitted," said Mr. Grumpson. "What I object to is the large number of persons with no other visible means of support who draw fat salaries for telling us how weak we are."

Ever Thus.

REV. HICKSON QUILTS CHARGE.

Advocate Candidacy of Cole L. Blaise in Recent Primaries.

A dispatch from Gaffney says: Dr. F. C. Hickson, pastor of the Skull Shoals Baptist church, who was asked several weeks ago to resign because of his political activities in the Democratic primary election last August, has complied with the request. The request was made by the deacons of the church.

Rev. Hickson, who is moderator of the Broad River Baptist Association, was candidate for county superintendent of education and published two signed advertisements advocating the candidacy of Cole L. Blaise for Governor. Both were defeated.

The minister, during the World War, was fined $500 for opposing the government's war-time program. In a statement issued in announcing that he would fill no more appointments at the Skull Shoals church, Mr. Hickson said that "this is my third and last church to lose on account of my stand on the war."

 TRIBUTE TO A SOLDIER. *****

R. D. Robinson.

Editor Keowee Courier: Knowing how willing you are to honor or do anything to perpetuate the memory of the heroes of the "Lost Cause," who have nearly all "crossed over the river and are now resting under the shade of the trees" with comrades gone before, I take this opportunity to send you a sketch of R. D. Robinson, who was born on April 24, 1844, and died June 17th, 1922.

Mr. Robinson is survived by the following relatives: Reid Robinson and Mrs. Rebecca Peay, children of his first wife, who was Miss Sara Adkins, and J. Earle Robinson, the only living child by his second wife, who was Miss Mary Voltrath; Mrs. Allen Gantt, who is a sister; James, John, Robert and William Robinson, nephews, and a number of others. He was buried at New Hope church in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. He had been a member of the church since his early youth, and at the time of his death was the oldest member of the New Hope church.

Mr. Robinson was born and raised and spent all of his life in Oconee county except the time that he was in the war. The last fourteen years of his life were spent with his son, Earle, and his happy family, by whom he was tenderly cared for. The funeral services at his burial were conducted by Rev. M. J. Stansell.

At the age of sixteen, in 1863, Mr. Robinson joined Company C, Orr's Regiment of Rifles, and served with that command until the surrender at Appomattox in 1865. Among his relics he left a twenty-dollar Confederate bill, a seventy-five-cent and a fifty-cent "shipplaster," as our change was called; also a home-made case knife, which he carried through the war, and a nice little cap that he wore in infancy, and his first child's bonnet—both over 75 years old, and well preserved. And among his papers was found a thirty-day furlough, or furlough, which he prized very highly.

Mr. Robinson was a good Christian man, a useful citizen, a kind neighbor, true friend, affectionate husband and father, and it may be truly said of him that those who knew him best loved him most.

LADY GOT SO WEAK COULD SCARCELY STAND

After Suffering From Many Female Troubles This Lady Heard of Cardui and Took It, She Says, "Until I Was Well."

"SOME TIME AGO," says Mrs. Buena McFarland, of R. F. D. 2, Bostic, N. C., "I suffered a great deal with weakness common to women. I had bearing-down pains, my sides and back hurt, and my limbs drew. I would get so weak in my knees I could scarcely stand."

"I was very nervous, and could not rest. I didn't feel like eating. I grew thin, and did not have ambition for anything."

"I had been trying other remedies . . . but did not get any better."

"Some one told us of Cardui, and what it was recommended for. I also took a Ladies Birthday Almanac and read of a case something like mine. I told my husband to get it and I would try it."

"I saw a great improvement after the first bottle (of Cardui), so I kept it up until I was well. Now I am the picture of health."

Thousands of other women have written, to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardui, and to recommend it to others.

Cardui has stood the test of extensive use, for more than forty years, in the treatment of troubles common to women. Try it.

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES.

By Ben E. Adams, Charleston, S. C.

One of the big social functions of Columbia during the State Fair week was the dance given by the Legion members and other visitors from over the State. There was a large attendance from Columbia.

It is gratifying to note the increased interest displayed in civic affairs by many posts in the State. In addition to the work of the Legion in the interest of disabled men the organization should find time to give attention to the educational institutions over the country. The American Legion is fostering an educational week, to be observed in December. The welfare of the public schools should be of great interest to the Legion.

The Lake City Post will observe Armistice Day with a meeting Friday night, Nov. 10. Invitations have been extended to a number of Legion officials to attend, and it is expected that a large crowd will be present. It is the plan of the Legion to have the whole city take an interest in the movement.

Nov. 23 will be "Legion Day" at the Colleton County Fair. James K. Jachies, commander of the Colleton County Post, is making arrangements for a large gathering. He has been assured that Governor-elect Thomas G. McLeod will be present. Other speakers are also on the program. The big marine band from Harris Island will be on hand for the occasion.

Legion affairs in Aiken are taking on new life under the leadership of Henry Johnson. A big smoker will be held Monday night. There will be a special program of music. The get-together spirit will be stressed by speakers.

The first of the Piedmont Bureau Lyceum attractions promoted by the Marion Post was presented recently in the school auditorium. A good house greeted the performers. The attraction was "The Welsh Miners' Quintette."

Vanderbilt Student Meets Death.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 2.—C. W. Womble, a Vanderbilt University student, of El Paso, Texas, was killed, and Ted Clark, of Livingston, Tenn., was injured when an airplane in which they were riding crashed to earth fourteen miles from this city this afternoon.

The son, Henry Mencken, came on from Hendersonville, N. C. Two other daughters, Mrs. Fred Stender and Mrs. Conrad Stender, live here. In addition, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were at the reunion this afternoon.

No Worms in a Healthy Child
All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a general strengthening tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.
